I bring a well-rounded academic background and practical expertise in coordination, documentation, and stakeholder engagement as a recent graduate with a Bachelor of Science in Soil, Water & Environment from the University of Dhaka. My academic journey has been deeply interdisciplinary, allowing me to understand the dynamics of sustainable development, research management, and public sector collaboration. During my undergraduate studies, I had the opportunity to work on several impactful research projects with esteemed national and international organizations, including the Atomic Energy Center, WaterAid Bangladesh, and the Institute of Water Modeling (IWM). These experiences honed my skills in administrative reporting, field-level coordination, logistics support, and inter-departmental communication—skills that align directly with the expectations of the Corporate Affairs internship at BRAC International.

Beyond academics, I have actively contributed to community engagement initiatives through both independent efforts and volunteer networks, including with UNV Bangladesh. These engagements deepened my understanding of participatory development, strengthened my interpersonal communication skills, and taught me the importance of adaptability, ethical professionalism, and efficient service delivery in the development sector. Working closely with youth-led and community-driven platforms allowed me to experience the real-world challenges and operational needs of development organizations.

I am applying for this internship not only to build on my existing knowledge but to contribute meaningfully to BRAC International's mission of empowering communities and enhancing administrative excellence. I see this opportunity as a stepping stone toward a career in development operations and organizational management. With a strong academic foundation, practical experience in logistics and documentation, and an eagerness to grow within a professional and structured environment, I am confident in my ability to support the Corporate Affairs team with diligence, professionalism, and integrity.
