Subject: Application for Internship Position at FES Bangladesh

Greetings,

I am writing to formally apply for the internship position at Friedrich-Ebert-Stiftung (FES) Bangladesh, as advertised. As a recent graduate from the University of Dhaka with a background in Soil, Water, and Environment and research experience in environmental health and sustainability, I am enthusiastic about the opportunity to contribute to your mission of advancing social democracy, climate justice, and inclusive economic development.

The nexus of public health, policy, and environmental sustainability has been the focus of my academic and research endeavors. I've done a lot of research on groundwater arsenic pollution, heavy metal contamination, and water quality modeling; I frequently work with organizations like the Institute of Water Modeling and the Bangladesh Atomic Energy Commission. In addition to giving me strong data analysis and GIS abilities, these experiences made me realize how crucial stakeholder engagement and community involvement are to solving difficult socio-environmental problems.

FES's efforts in capacity building and policy dialogue particularly appeal to me. I gained excellent communication, coordination, and intercultural skills while serving as a Section Leader in Stanford University's Code in Place program. These are traits that I think are essential to assisting FES with its multi-stakeholder initiatives and event planning. Additionally, my participation in fieldwork and academic research has helped me acquire a practical grasp of development concerns, particularly as they relate to gender inclusion, environmental equality, and labor rights.

The prospect of working for a vibrant, purpose-driven company like FES excites me. I'm sure that my abilities in project management, communication, and research will enable me to make a significant contribution to continuing programs and educational exchanges.

I appreciate you taking a look at my application. As directed, I have included all necessary materials in a single PDF file. I'm excited for the chance to talk more about how my expertise aligns with the opportunity.

Sincerely,

Md Rakib Hasan
